INTERVIEW: Overseas property buyers will return to Dubai in 2021 - Samana Developers CEO

Imran Farooq, CEO of Samana Developers said 60-65 percent of Samana's clients were international buyers in 2019, "but that ratio changed completely in 2020, with residents constituting 85 percent of the buyers."

He is bullish about the economic recovery of the UAE this year. "By the second or third quarter, strong participation from UAE residents combined with normalisation of flights, and the fact that the Expo is starting in October 2021... we are very bullish about 2021."

Both projects are in Arjan, Dubai land. The company has plans to launch other new residential projects in the city this year as well.

"Two launches will happen in May 2021. One is a 155-million dirham [$42 million] project in Jumeirah Village Circle, while the second project, valued at 100 million dirhams [$27 million], is in Dubai Studio City. We are in the approval stage with the planning authority and are complying with RERA's [the Real Estate Regulatory Agency] escrow requirements," he said.

Commenting on the rule RERA introduced last year requiring developers to deposit 50 percent of the project's construction cost upfront compared to

He continued: "Dubai's lifestyle, community, safety keep getting better and will convert visitors into buyers. People from Europe, America, and Asia want to explore the option of having a second home in Dubai, and this demand will make itself felt once regular flights start."

He said the company will start delivering its 122-unit Samana Greens in the first quarter and the 205-unit Samana Hills in the third.

COIN? NOW, BUY PROPERTY IN DUBAI

cryptocurrency for residential project in Jumeirah Village Circle Dubai

"I consider the crypto as an opportunity in general and a new mode of settlement in particular. Looking at the growing acceptance of cryptocurrency and its inclusion into the mainstream financial industry, I can now safely see that the new has come to stay using the cryptocurrency in business, especially in the real estate sector in Dubai. We as a real estate developer must respond," said Imran Farooq, CEO of Samana Developer.

He was of the opinion that the more the crypto system is transparent, the less it becomes complex. Since the cryptocurrency market works closely with the bank and banks for currency and is pegged with the US dollar, it becomes transparent and reliable mode of payment, he said.

"I believe the fundamental shift to cryptocurrency transactions should be that all real estate sale proceeds through cryptocurrency for real estate projects in Dubai should go to the escrow account at the Dubai Land Department. Cryptocurrency must be regulated just like any other currency. Samana Developers will have a full-fledged system to manage crypto wallets and exchanges."

Developer for new project To encourage its buyers, Samana Developers has also offered five per cent discount to investor who will use Escrow by Samana's customer project which will be launched in June or July 2021.

"In collaboration with Coin247 accepted work transactions has changed the world. Samana Developers remains vigilant of the changes and quickly adapted to it. Our innovative initiative in Dubai real estate market brings new growth and creates better value for investors. This approach was the reason we achieved top-rated sales position in Arjan," Farooq said.
